OCVTS Program: Medical Billing & Coding (Adult Education) - Irene Malfitano, Instructor

Employer: Dr. Irwin Goldberg, Toms River

“I am so lucky to have found OCVTS. The Medical Administration Program has put me on the right career path. I have learned so much. Thanks to this program, I finally found my niche. I would like to thank my instructors for my success in this field and for helping me obtain employment. Deciding to attend OCVTS was a great choice and I would choose it again,” commented Emily Huff.

Emily’s employer, the office of Dr. Irwin Goldberg in Toms River, has been an instrumental component in her education. They were quick to say, “Emily is caring, devoted, hardworking and conscientious. She’s an asset to our office. Her friendly, outgoing personality to our patients is greatly appreciated.”

Irene Malfitano, Instructor of the Adult Education’s Medical Administration Program at the Toms River Center, stated, “Emily was in my Medical Terminology class, and is currently in my Medical Billing and Coding class. She is very attentive and eager to learn. Emily comes to class prepared and ready to take on new challenges to better herself in her career path of choice. She has asked for extra work so she can practice additional hands-on assignments after school. Emily has been able to take the knowledge gained in our programs and successfully implement her new skills in her place of employment.” Obviously, Emily has recognized a winning formula for success...the more you put into the program, the more you get out of it.

Good news...Irene Malfitano is the Instructor for the new day time Medical Administration Program offered at the Toms River Center.
